About Me

Having spent over a decade honing my skills at the online poker tables, I discovered the thrilling world of programming and I haven't looked back since. Last year I dove headfirst into a bootcamp program and quickly fell in love with the challenge and creativity of building web applications. With a solid understanding of technologies like HTML, CSS, JavaScript, React, TypeScript, Tailwind and SASS, I'm ready to bring my unique background and passion to your next project.
